

Gaugeric, I found the ideal combination for your petition: You are right, the fastest and also cheapest way to go to Australia is by plane. First of all you should book a flight for 1100£ with the Ryanair company (the cheapest at the moment), then you would like to spend a couple of weeks in order to visit the most important sights such as The Sydney Opera House, the Sydney Harbor Bridge, the Royal Botanic Gardens, the Great Barrier Reef, the Kangaroo Island or Castle Hill.

There is one city which you will find pretty cheap to stay and it is near to the main interest sites, that is Newcastle, furthermore there are lots of tours and interesting activities to do there, you can stay at a hotel for less than 250$ for 20 nights with facilities and meals included. As you requested the best at the lowest price.
